

General Services

There are certain operating programs that do not fit into one of the seven General Plan elements. These General Services programs are used to account for the financing of goods and services provided by one program to other programs that are a part of the seven elements. The General Services operating programs include internal operations like fleet and facilities management, employee leaves and benefits, workers' compensation, insurance and information technology.